Performance-Based Solutions

The Metro Group provides performance-based solutions for buildings, facilities, and industry, providing a full spectrum of water treatment technologies and service.

Our programs provide maximum heat transfer by minimizing the effects of deposition, corrosion and microbiological fouling in your water handling systems. The graph below shows the impact of common waterside deposits when treated insufficiently and the resulting energy related losses.

A Comprehensive Approach

The Metro Group manufactures over 1,000 different water treatment products. We design precision chemical formulations and programs to meet your system's specific needs.

Providing Effective Solutions

To provide effective and often unique solutions for our customers, we draw from the following range of products and services that are customized to meet your needs:

- Water treatment products, programs and services
- Reverse osmosis and pure-water systems
- Feed and control equipment
- Process additives and associated services
- Pre- and post-treatment equipment
- Consulting, engineering and technical services
